

- 29 When electromagnetic radiation falls onto a metal surface, electrons are emitted if the frequency of the electromagnetic radiation exceeds a minimum value, known as the threshold frequency.

What does the threshold frequency depend upon?

- A the electric potential of the metal
- B the frequency of the incident radiation
- C the intensity of the incident radiation
- D the work function energy of the metal