

- 7 Two spheres are dropped from a hot-air balloon which is moving downwards at a constant speed. The spheres have the same diameter and are made from the same material but one of them is hollow.

The displacement of the spheres relative to the position at which they are released is plotted against time.

Which graph correctly represents this?

