

8 An impulse occurs when a variable force is applied to a body for a time t .

Which quantity will not give the magnitude of the impulse on the body?

- A the area under the force-time graph
- B the average force multiplied by the time t
- C the change in momentum of the body in time t
- D the mass of the body multiplied by its initial acceleration