

32. Answer: C

Since the field lines 'cut' by the coil decreases as it rotates, the total magnetic flux passing through it will decrease.

The magnetic flux density across the coil will not change as the magnetic field does not change.