

Answer: C

- 7 When the force exerted on the vehicle is constant, the vehicle accelerates uniformly and thus the velocity of the vehicle increases at a constant rate.
When the force becomes zero, there is no acceleration, and thus the vehicle moves at a constant velocity.

Answer: D

- 8 When submerged in the water