

		resulting in inaccuracy.
5	C	P and Q are both systematic errors where they are caused by zero errors resulting in error occurring in one direction. R and S are human errors which could result in errors occurring in both directions.
6	D	As the horizontal component of velocity is more dominant initially as vertical