

11	C	Frictional force does not depend on speed and thus it is constant. Viscous drag force is directly proportional to v^2 at high speed. Thus, as speed increases, drag force increases.
12	C	When X falls from height h , loss in C.D.E. becomes K.E. at the bottom.