

|           |          |                                                                                                                                        |
|-----------|----------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|           |          |                                                                                                                                        |
| 13 | D | The centripetal force on the satellite of mass <math>m</math> is <math>F</math>. $F = \frac{mv^2}{r}$ $v = \sqrt{\frac{Fr}{m}}$ |
| 14 | D | Gravitational force provides the centripetal force needed for orbit                                                                    |